How instability in Myanmar fosters drug trade, affects India's security

It is said that China's frustration was with the frustration was with the Tatmadaw's inability to control radmadws/inability to control cybercrime, cyber slavery, trafficking, money laundering, and illicit gambling that had a direct impact on its citizens. This resulted in China backing the Three Brotherhood Alliance with the very successful Operation 1027. It successful Operation 1027. It was easy enough to achieve as the leader of Myanmar National Democratic Alliance Army (MNDAA), Peng Jiasheng, who was also known as the 'King of Kokang', was one of the most influential people in the Kokang region of Shan State. Peng had been ousted to China by none other than the present Senior General Min Aung Haing, who led the coup in 2021. Consequently, with the success of Operation 1027, Consequently, with the success of Operation 1027, there was much hope around he world that Myanmar would stabilise, democracy would no longer be lawless. However, these observations may have been either premature or looking at the situation in Shan State—piecemeal. Northern Sha State—piecemeal. Northern Sha State has a history of illegal activities. If Peng Jasheng was known as the "Frincess of Kokang", there was much before him the "Princess of Kokang". Olive Yang. She was the second daughter of the ruling prince from the House of Yang, who went on to become the largest producer of oplum and heroin in the world.

Born in 1927, Olive was expected to, as other girls of her stature, have her feet broken and bound in order to get married into a family of equals. However, at an early age she was found carrying pistols to school and commanding hundreds of boys who came to be known success of Operation 1027 pistols to school and commanding hundreds of boys who came to be known as "Olive's Boys", her own personal army. It was Olive in the 1950's who first delivered opium packed on mules to Thailand and later by truck to Thailand and later by truck to the Golden Triangle. Olive became one of the most powerful milital leaders in the region, later expanding from opium production to methamphetamines. Historically, drug trade and militals have been long connected with this region, irrespective of the change in power centres in Myanmar. It was the nationalist Chinese Kuomintang Army in the late 40's that set up labs on the border of Thailand and Shan State. In the '60s, with China ramping up support for the ramping up support for the Communist Party of Burma (CPB), many militias became a part of it. Later, apart from Olive, there were many other infamous drug traffickers. Such as the powerful warlord Such as the powerful warford from Kokang, Lo Hsing-Han, who was dubbed the 'Godfather of Heroin' by the US, and Khun Sa, who alone is said to have controlled at one point a staggering 70 per cent of the world's heroin supply in the 1970s. In the '80s, when the CPB disintegrated from its ranks, the United Wa State Army (UWSA) and the MNDAA emerged. It was milital leaders like Olive and Hsing-Han who brokered the ceasefire and negotiated special regions for like Olive and Hsing-Han who brokered the ceasefire and negotiated special regions for the state. Such was the power of the local warlords in Shan State. Opium cultivation and drug processing are an intangible part of the history of Shan State. When LWSA emerged as a player, it challenged Khun Sa's dominance on the heroin market. With Operation Tiger Trap in 1994, many of the accused were extradited to the US, and the likes of Khun Sa surrendered to the government in Myanmar, other groups to enter the illicit trade, transforming the region into not just a hub of heroin production but also methamphetamines.

With legal precursor materials coming in from China and time-tested

With legal precursor materials coming in from China and time-tested infrastructure, the area barely has a legitimate economy anymore. It has also irrevocably linked the drug trade with armed conflict and territorial dominance. For instance, UWSA occupied the town of Mong Yawn (previously controlled by Khun Sa) and made it into a production hub for Yaba pills, meaning "crazy pills" in Thai. A combination of methamphetamine and they were even making their own precursors.

A combination of methamphetamine and caffeine, the colourful pills stamped with the letters "R" or "W" have become popular party drugs, costing between $1 and $5 only. In addition to heroin and Yaba, crystal meth heroin and Yaba, crystal meth (a pure crystalline form of meth a mp h et a min e) production has become dominant. In 2008, the US Treasury Department called the UWSA the most powerful drug trafficking organisation in the world. They alleged that they were even making their own preprizers.

An estimated 154 tonnes of heroin were produced and exported from Myanmar in 2023, with a value of approximately $2.2 billion. Opium production increased by 36 per cent to 1080 tonnes. And according to the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) Report for 2021, between mid-February and early April of 2020, Myanmar authorities conducted a series of operations in norther Shan State. The operations resulted in seizures of 193 million methamphetamine tablets (equivalent to 17.4 tonnes were seized in 2017 and State. An oversupply has kept the prices low, making synthetic drugs in the region easily accessible. In 2020 alone, more than 867 million tablets were seized. The United Watons Office on Drugs and Crime (UNOOC) follows the 10 per cent rule based on the assumption that authorities only catch 10 per cent of trafficked narcotics. If that is the case, it would be surprising to know that in 2010, it was estimated that 1 billion Yaba tablets were trafficked to Thailand from Myanmar alone.
